PRIVATE JOURNEY • FULL ITINERARY

Five days on the Côte d'Azur, and one coast we never leave.

Sixty kilometres of coast, two places to sleep, a private car and guide, and the only hotel change on the day the car drives east anyway.

01 Two bases

One in the west for Antibes and Cannes, one in the east for Monaco, Cap Ferrat and Nice. Every morning starts where the evening ended.

02 The bags stay in the car

The only hotel change falls on the day the car drives east anyway, so the luggage never comes out.

03 The loud day in the middle

Monaco takes day three, with quieter days on either side.

04 Every choice saves an afternoon

The lift up Castle Hill instead of the stairs leaves energy for both the villa and the vineyard.

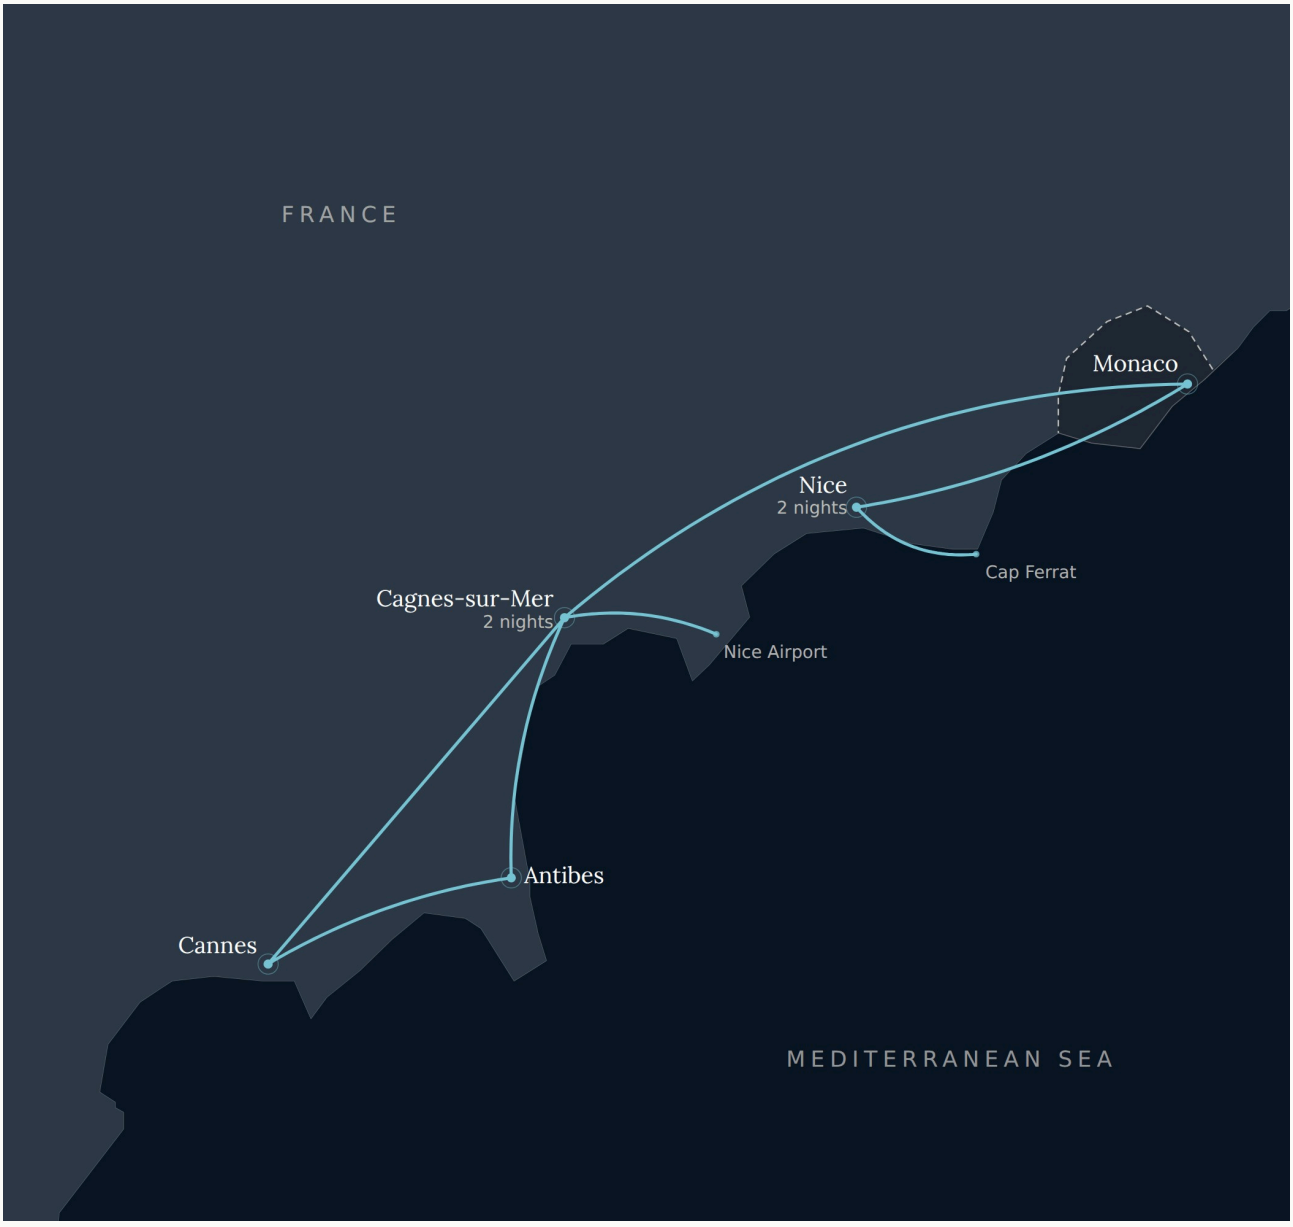

What it gives up is everything inland: no Provence, no Verdon Gorge, no Saint-Tropez. What it buys is five mornings that start where they finished.

THE ROUTE

West first, then east.

Two bases on one coast, by private car.

DAY	LEG	HOW
01	Nice Airport → Cagnes-sur-Mer	Private car
02	Cagnes → Antibes → Cannes → Cagnes	Private car
03	Cagnes → Monaco → Nice	Private car · the corniche
04	Nice → Cap Ferrat → Château de Crémat → Nice	Private car
05	Nice → Nice Airport	Private car

DAY 01

DUSK

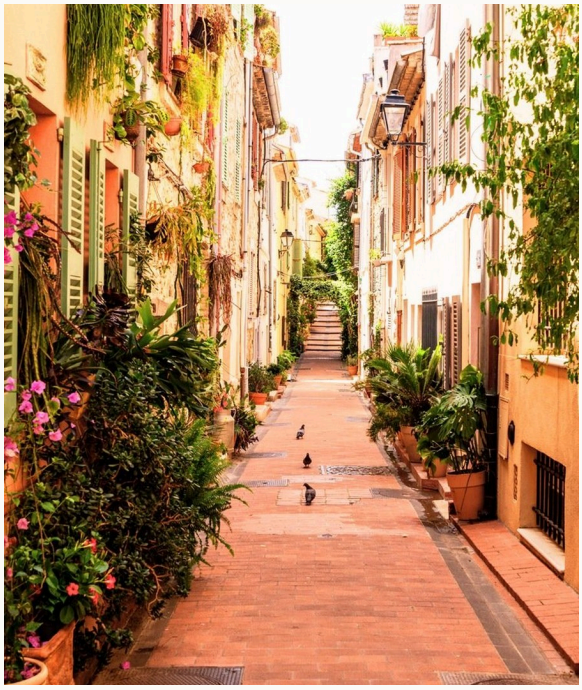

NICE AIRPORT • CAGNES-SUR-MER

Nice Airport → Cagnes-sur-Mer

ARRIVAL

A racecourse by the runway, and a hill village at sunset.

AFTERNOON	Nice Côte d'Azur Airport	Met in the arrivals hall by the guide.
	Hippodrome de la Côte d'Azur	A short stop outside France's second-largest racecourse, between the runway and the sea.
LATE	Hotel Indigo, Cagnes-sur-Mer	Check in and rest; the rooftop pool looks over the sea.
DUSK	Haut-de-Cagnes	The medieval village on the hill: cobbled lanes, flowers down the walls, and the top of the village as the sun goes.
EVENING	Dinner suggestion	Château Le Cagnard, on the castle terrace. Meal not included.

HAUT-DE-CAGNES

DESIGN INTENT • WHY THE FIRST BASE IS IN THE WEST

The airport sits at the western end of the coast. Driving into Nice after a long flight buys an hour of traffic; ten minutes the other way buys a hill village at dusk, with Antibes and Cannes half an hour away tomorrow.

NIGHT 1

Hotel Indigo Cagnes-sur-Mer

DAY 02

RAMPARTS

ANTIBES • CANNES • CROS-DE-CAGNES

Antibes · Cannes

WEST

A market, Picasso by the sea, and a view from the ramparts few people find.

MORNING	Marché Provençal, Antibes	While it is still a market.
	Picasso Museum	In the castle on the sea wall where he worked.
	Old town and Port Vauban	Then a little-known path up onto the ramparts: open sea, the masts of the port and the Alps behind.
MIDDAY	Lunch in Antibes
AFTERNOON	Cannes	The Croisette on foot, and the red-carpet steps of the Palais des Festivals.
EVENING	Cros-de-Cagnes	Seafood in the fishing quarter.

THE RAMPARTS OF ANTIBES

DESIGN INTENT • WHY ANTIBES TAKES THE MORNING

The market empties before one o'clock and the Picasso rooms are best in the morning light. Cannes is a boulevard and a staircase, and ninety minutes in the afternoon is enough.

NIGHT 2

Hotel Indigo Cagnes-sur-Mer

DAY 03

MONACO

THE CORNICHE • MONACO • NICE

Cagnes → Monaco → Nice

EAST

A spy-mission day in Monaco, and the bags never leave the car.

MORNING	Check out of Cagnes	The luggage stays in the car all day. East by the corniche roads.
LATE	Monaco-Ville, the Rock	The Oceanographic Museum, the changing of the guard at the Prince's Palace, and the cathedral.
MIDDAY	Lunch at Le Salon Rose	Inside the Monte-Carlo Casino. Meal not included.
AFTERNOON	The Prince's car collection	Then the Grand Prix circuit at legal speed, with the Bond theme playing as the car leaves the tunnel.
EVENING	Into Nice	Check in at Palais Ségurane, in the antiques quarter.

THE ROCK, MONACO

DESIGN INTENT • WHY THE HOTEL CHANGES TODAY

The car is driving east anyway, and the bags never come out of it, so the move costs nothing but a key card. Monaco sits in the middle of the five days, where the loudest day works best.

NIGHT 3

Palais Ségurane Boutique Hôtel, Nice

DAY 04

GARDENS

NICE • SAINT-JEAN-CAP-FERRAT • THE BELLET HILLS

Vieux Nice · Cap Ferrat · Bellet

NICE

Flowers in the morning, a villa garden at lunch, Nice's own wine by evening.

MORNING	Cours Saleya flower market	Then the lanes of Vieux Nice with the guide.
LATE	Castle Hill by the Art Deco lift	The whole Baie des Anges from above.
AFTERNOON	Villa & Gardens Ephrussi de Rothschild	At Saint-Jean-Cap-Ferrat, with lunch at the villa.
LATE	Château de Crémat	A tasting of Bellet wine in the hills behind Nice.
EVENING	Dinner suggestion	Le Plongeoir, on its rock in the sea. Meal not included.

THE COURS SALEYA FLOWER MARKET

DESIGN INTENT • WHY THE LIFT, NOT THE STAIRS

The climb up Castle Hill is short but steep, and it decides how much afternoon is left. Take the lift and both the villa and the vineyard survive.

NIGHT 4

Palais Ségurane Boutique Hôtel, Nice

MEALS • Lunch at the villa

DAY 05

MARKET

NICE • NICE AIRPORT

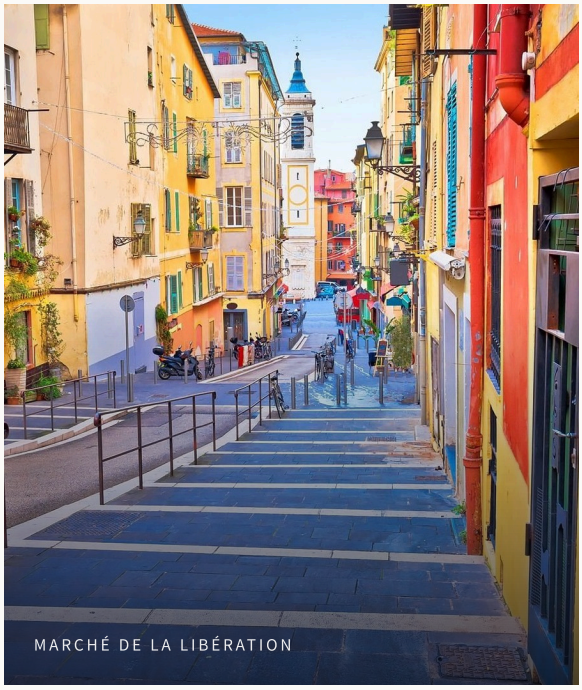

Marché de la Libération → Nice Airport

HOME

A last morning eating standing up, where Nice buys its lunch.

MORNING	Marché de la Libération	The guide brings a tasting list: socca and pissaladière, eaten standing up.
MIDDAY	Pan-bagnat	From the kiosk, for lunch.
AFTERNOON	Last shopping, then the airport	The private car to the airport, timed to the flight.

MARCHÉ DE LA LIBÉRATION

DESIGN INTENT • WHY THE LAST MORNING IS A MARKET

Cours Saleya was yesterday and is half visitors. Libération is where the city buys lunch, and it is on the way out of town.

STAY

Home

Four nights, two hotels.

One in the west and one in the east, each close to what the next day needs.

NIGHTS 1–2 • CAGNES-SUR-MER

Hotel Indigo Cagnes-sur-Mer

By the sea, with a rooftop pool

Ten minutes from the airport, and half an hour from Antibes and Cannes.

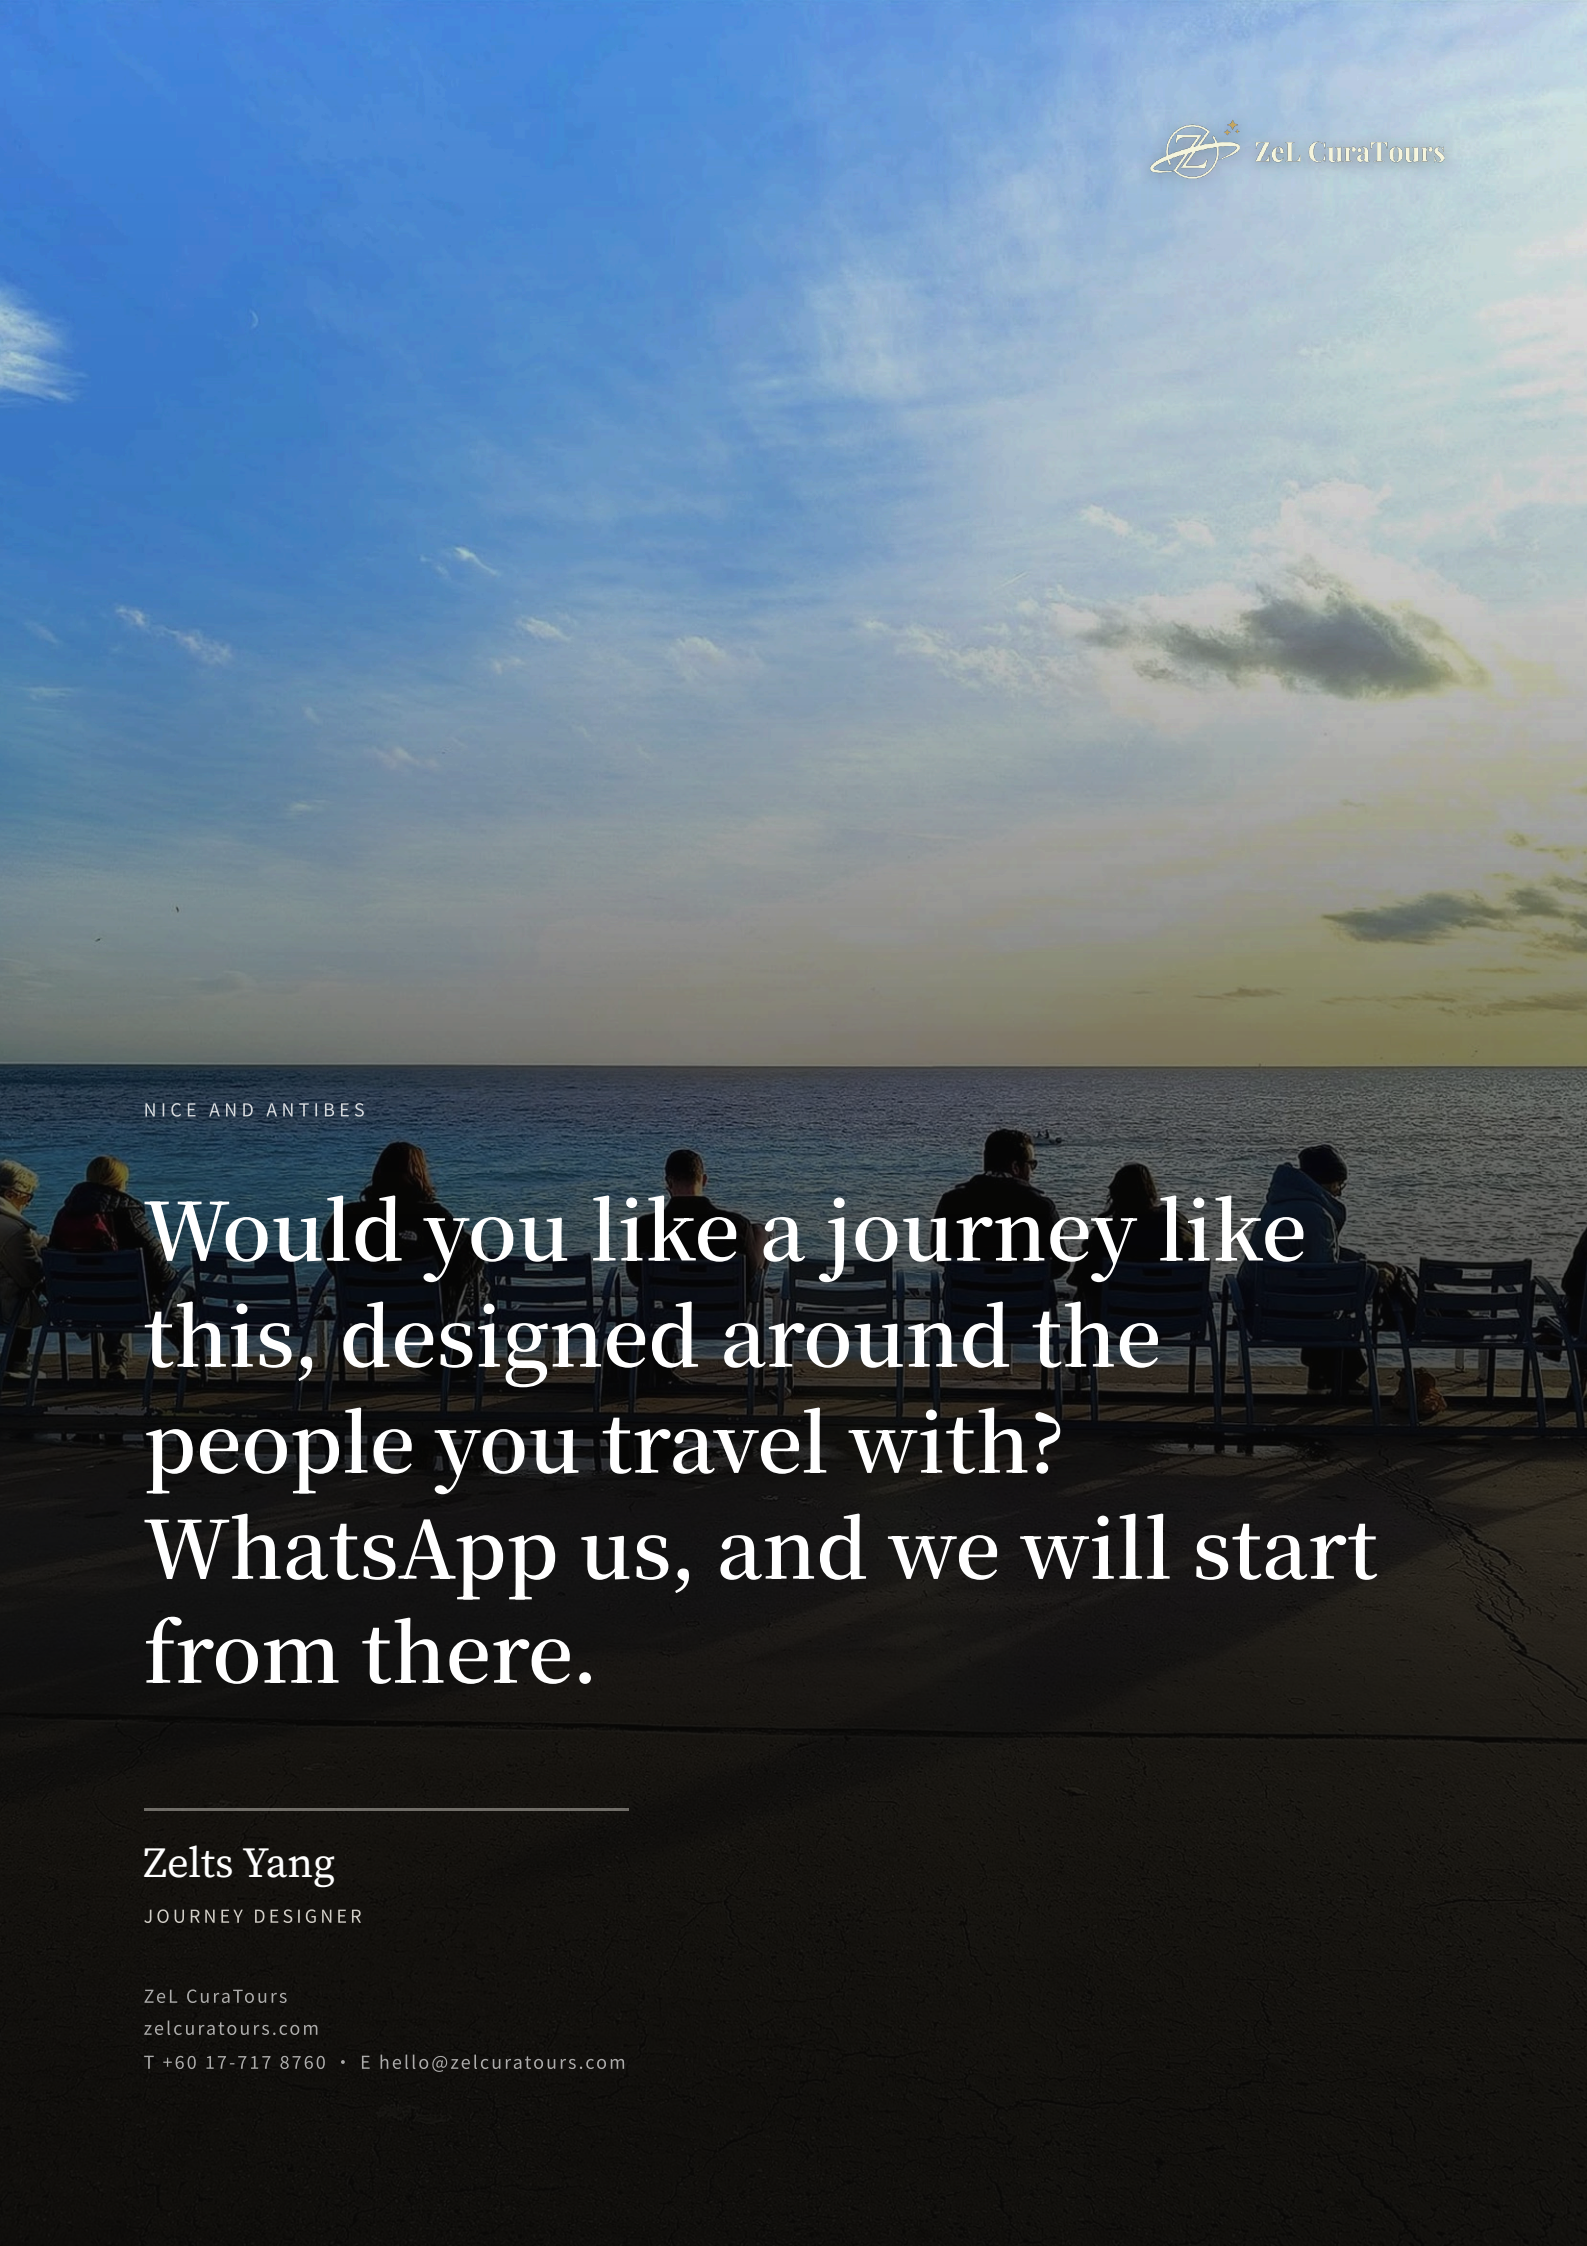

NIGHTS 3–4 • NICE

Palais Ségurane Boutique Hôtel

In the antiques quarter

Between the old town and the port, with Vieux Nice on foot.
